

STEMS FIRST

NATURAL WINE POP-UP · MIAMI, FL

Brand Guidelines — v1.2
Page 1 of 3 · Prepared for freelancer / designer use
@stemsfirst · August 2026

PRIMARY MARK

Use official supplied logo files (SVG / PNG / EPS) for all production work — this mark is shown here only to illustrate spacing and sizing rules below.

COLOR PALETTE

Ink Black
#201D18
Logo, type, linework

Bone White
#F6F1E6
Primary background

Dusk Blue
#2F4858
Bay/skyline twilight shots

Golden Amber
#D9A441
String lights, candlelight, wine

Pulled from the existing @stemsfirst photography (Miami golden-hour waterfront, candlelit dinners) — logo and flyers stay strictly black & white.

MINIMUM SIZE

Never scale the full mark (glass + wordmark) smaller than 0.75 in / 20 mm wide in print, or 120px wide on screen. Below this the linework and lettering lose legibility.

CLEAR SPACE

Keep open space around the mark equal to the height of the letter "S" in "STEMS" on every side. No text, imagery, or edge of page may enter this zone.

PLACEMENT & COLOR

Use the black mark on Bone White or light backgrounds. Use an all-white reversed version on Ink Black or Dusk Blue backgrounds only. Never place on busy photography without a solid contrast panel behind it.

TYPOGRAPHY

HEADLINES / FLYERS

Special Elite

Distressed typewriter — matches existing event flyers ("A Fish Thing")

BODY / UI

Inter

Clean grotesk — web copy, labels, social captions

PHOTOGRAPHY & TEXTURE

Warm, low-light film photos — golden-hour waterfront, candlelit dinner tables. Event flyers use a rough black & white halftone/dot-screen treatment.

STAYING ON-BRAND

DO

- Use the logo only in its approved black or reversed-white versions, at or above minimum size, with full clear space respected.
- Keep photography candid and low-light — golden hour, string lights, candlelit tables — over polished studio shots.
- Pair Special Elite flyer headlines with Inter body copy, and let event flyers stay strictly black & white with a halftone/dot-screen texture.

DON'T

- Don't stretch, skew, rotate, recolor, or add drop shadows / outlines / gradients to the logo.
- Don't place the mark on clashing colors, low-contrast backgrounds, or busy photography without a solid backing panel.
- Don't substitute brand fonts with system defaults (Arial, Times New Roman) in finished materials, or mix in more than one accent color at a time.

REFERENCE IMAGE STYLE

SOCIAL & LIFESTYLE — DOCUMENTARY COLOR

Candid, not staged: a hand holding bottles against the skyline, a strung-light dinner table, wine on a seawall at dusk, a table mid-toast under a disco ball. Loose framing, film grain, phone-flash and 35mm over stock photography.

PRINT EPHEMERA — HALFTONE BLACK & WHITE

Event flyers and printed announcements flip the mood entirely: stark black & white, rough halftone/dot-screen texture, typewriter type — a stapled-to-a-pole, DIY zine energy that contrasts on purpose with the warm photography.

LIGHTING & PHOTOGRAPHY TONE

Low, warm, and unfixed. Practical light sources only — candlelight, string lights, sunset, ambient room glow — never flash-lit or studio-corrected. Grain, blown highlights, and underexposed corners are features, not flaws. Temperature swings between warm amber interiors and cool blue-hour exteriors, which is where the Golden Amber / Dusk Blue palette comes from directly.

FIRST 3 SECONDS

THE FEELING

"Like being waved over to a table that's already mid-dinner — warm, a little dim, unmistakably real, and welcoming rather than curated."

30-SECOND PITCH — NETWORKING / SALES CALL

SPOKEN, NOT READ

"Stems First is a natural wine pop-up here in Miami — we show up wherever people are already gathering, whether that's a candlelit dinner table or a DJ set where we're just pouring bottles at the bar. Same idea either way: good, natural wine, no pretension, no rules about it. Longer term, we're building toward an actual space — something like Early June in Paris, with rotating chefs instead of one fixed menu. Right now it's one event at a time."

10-SECOND PITCH — QUICK INTRODUCTIONS

WITH THE VISION

"I run Stems First — natural wine pop-ups in Miami, from dinner parties to DJ nights, building toward our own restaurant eventually."

Use with investors, press, or anyone who asks "where's this going?"

CASUAL / TRIMMED

"I run Stems First — a natural wine pop-up in Miami. Dinner parties, DJ nights, always natural wine."

Use for a passing "so what do you do" at an event

DELIVERY NOTES

SAY IT, DON'T RECITE IT

- Let the em dashes be real pauses — don't rush through them like a memorized script.
- Save the "Early June" / restaurant line for people worth impressing; skip it in a casual, passing intro.
- End on a question when the setting allows it ("You in?") — it turns a pitch into a conversation instead of a monologue.
